APPROACH TO ANNUAL REPORT

June 18, 2002

ON-LINE & CD-ROM REPORT TO PACK MORE VALUABLE POST 9/11 INFORMATION ON AIRPORT'S RECOVERY

DFW INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT, Texas (June 18, 2002) — Dallas/Fort Worth International Airport releases its 2001 Annual Report today, beginning a new era in the report's communication and distribution by delivering the interactive information for the first time on-line at: <http://www.dfwairport.com/airport/flash/financial/ar2001/>

The 2001 report will also be available on CD-ROM, significantly reducing printing and production costs and allows the addition of interactive graphics and video.

The easy-to-use summary covers the financial results of the Airport for the fiscal year that ended September 30, 2001. The solid financial performance in the wake of September's tragedy could not be bound by a fiscal year, so DFW devotes an entire section of the interactive report to its post-September 11 comeback. This section includes statistics that cover the Airport's recovery in the areas of air service, operations and the Capital Development Program (CDP) from September 13, 2001 through March 2002.

"We understand that the world and our Airport has changed greatly since September 11 and we felt that sharing our six month recovery data would provide a valuable perspective and insight into DFW's comeback," says Jeff Fegan, CEO of DFW. "And by using our Web site and new technology we can reach a broader audience with more information at a lower cost. In the Airport business of today, that's a good business model."

In the report, the Airport details its financial performance for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2001. Overall, total revenues increased 7% from $256,759,000 in fiscal year 2000 to $274,046,000 in fiscal year 2001. And the Airport was able to maintain landing fees at $1.82 for fiscal year 2001, continuing to rank DFW as one of the lowest among major airports.

"Despite September 11, DFW hit its financial targets," says Vernon Evans, the Airport's chief financial officer, in describing the financial information contained in the report. "Although the events temporarily damaged the airport industry nationwide, DFW responded quickly and professionally to reduce the overall financial impact to airport customers and employees."

The report also contains an in-depth section and virtual reality video detailing the progress of the Airport's $2.6B Capital Development Program (CDP) which encompasses construction of the new international Terminal D and the Automated People Mover (APM) system. In the wake of September 11, both projects have remained on budget and on schedule to open in early 2005.

Overall, the Airport takes a measured, positive view of the continued recovery at DFW and airports around the country.

"DFW International Airport continues to be cautiously optimistic about the rebound and recovery of our nation's aviation system," says Fegan. "We have partnered with our airlines, our concessionaires and our Airport employees to assist in the recovery. And we have worked very closely with the new Transportation Security Administration (TSA) to assist in the enormous challenge to implement new security procedures."

The report also contains overall Airport statistical facts and data, a comprehensive DFW route network, marketing video and staff listings. The Airport communications and technology team collaborated to keep the report simple to navigate and easy to view. The web-based version was developed using Macromedia Flash. Flash compression allows for faster downloads over the World Wide Web. The report can be viewed by anyone with a Windows-based PC using Microsoft Internet Explorer 5.5 or newer or Netscape 6.2. The interactive CD-ROM version was developed using Macromedia Director.
